Feb. 7th  Partnering with Our Neighbors  Rev. Carie Johnsen
UUCC Faith-in-Action Committee
Around the corner and down the street, St. Marks Episcopal Church cares for the economically disadvantaged citizen’s of Augusta with free public supper, a clothing bank, a food bank, an essentials pantry and a women's shelter. The Faith-in-Action committee will join Rev. Carie Johnsen in the pulpit to lift up the simple question, “How can we be good neighbors?”

Feb. 14th  Sacred Conversations: Sexuality and Faith  Rev. Carie Johnsen
In this service I will extend a conversation already underway in our religious exploration classrooms where the curriculum Our Whole Live engages young people in education that celebrates sexuality as a sacred life-giving life-affirming gift. One that is central to our humanity and integral to spirituality.

Feb. 21st  For the Love of Boundary Setters  Rev. Carie Johnsen
Setting boundaries is equally as challenging as respecting the boundaries set by others. Both are vital for being in dynanic and healthy relationships and beloved community. Let us examine how this act of being clear about who we are and what we can do is a gift to self and a gift to others.

Feb. 28th  To Endeavor in the Face of the Impossible  Rev. Glenn Turner
UUCC Minister Emeritus
A sermon inspired by a novel by Margaret Drabble who believed that happiness was a by-product of our efforts to live our lives with devotion and depth. She commented in an interview that she liked "fairly happy endings," and in the novel I read, her characters "go in for continued effort" when things are less than "happy." When I watch friends and family struggle with the issues that arise in life, I realize again and again that though we may wish we/they were happy, what we all deal with may have little to do with "happiness" per se. It has everything to do with how we meet those issues.
A Faith Journey...

As I prepare for the January 31st New Member Ceremony, I find myself in a familiar and comfortable place. This act of welcoming visitors and new members into our midst is a privilege I have enjoyed for years. During my five years on the staff team at my home congregation as the Membership Coordinator, I grew into the role of membership ministry. Greeting visitors and witnessing their discovery of a spiritual community they can call home is exciting. Helping them to integrate into the congregation and become a recognizable part of church life is rewarding. I like sharing our faith. I like growing our faith.

One of the questions new ministers are often asked is “Will you become a member of the congregation you serve?” I have pondered this question. I have engaged my colleagues in conversation, asking them about their practices of membership and asking why they make the choices they make. In the end I had to make my choice. In the spirit of transparency and full disclosure, I would like to share with you my decision.

No, I will not become a member of Unitarian Universalist Community Church. I will continue to hold my membership in my home congregation.

In accepting the call to be the Minister of UUCC, I accepted a role in this community that has me set apart. I am with all of you but I am not part of you. It comes back around to the task of having strong ministerial boundaries. To engage in a healthy, vital and dynamic ministry, it is wise to have clear social and professional boundaries. Membership would blur those boundaries and confound my relationship with all of you.

Membership confers belonging—a privilege, I believe, Ministers are unable to fully hold. As the settled minister of this congregation, any membership status would be compromised. Ministers do not have the privilege of voting. Equally, at the membership meetings, Ministers are limited to the task of ministry and not that of a participant. Any status of membership would be in name only, not in practice.

When the annual stewardship canvass begins in March, I will fully participate by receiving a stewardship visit and making a substantial pledge. Some might ask, “if you’re not a member, then why do you pledge?” I pledge because I am a committed to the life of this congregation. I trust in you and believe in the mission and vision of this community. I am committed to your success; I choose to be a steward in this church.

In the end of it all, I am pleased to be your Minister. It is a blessing to serve you.

In faith,

Carie

Building Your Own Theology with Rev. Carie Johnsen
January 27th, February 10th & 24th, March 10th & 24th, April 7th

We are meaning makers. We are co-creators. We live in a community of meaning makers and co-creators.

Based on the assumption that everyone is their own theologian, this classic Unitarian Universalist adult religious exploration program invites participants to develop their own personal credos. Together we will explore ultimate meanings – our deepest values and convictions. We will build theologies based on the materials from your individual life experiences.

Participants are encouraged to make a commitment to attend all six sessions. Short readings and reflections will be given for the off weeks. At the end, participants will be invited to share their credos with the congregation at a service in May. This is optional. To plan accordingly, we are asking participants to please sign up for this course by calling Julie at 622-3233, sending email to admin@augustauu.org or sign up in fellowship hall on the bulletin board.

Board Highlights - Jan. 1, 2010
From the Clerk

- Board will hold Town Meetings following second service on February 7th and March 7th
  - February 7th – Serving of alcoholic beverages on Church premises, especially by rental groups led by Deb Mattson and Mark Rolfe
  - March 7th – Status of postponed building plans led by Doug Rooks and Nancy Fritz
- Board plans to look into bonding the Treasurer
- Board will invite guests to February meeting to talk about upcoming canvass and adult religious exploration.
- Board reviewed the 2009 to 2014 Five Year Plan adopted June 2009

The Board of Trustees has scheduled 2 Town Meetings, one in February and one in March. The purpose of Town Meetings is to exchange information, ideas, and needs. They are not designed for decision making or debate.

Please plan to attend the February and March Town Meetings immediately after the 2nd service:

During the February 7 Town Meeting the Board will be asking for your thoughts about the development of an alcohol policy. The need for this policy came to our attention as we considered the various uses of our buildings as we rent and the congregation gathers. The Board will provide you with information gathered from other churches that have alcohol use policies and information about our insurance policy.

During the March 7 Town Meeting the will be asking your thoughts about buildings, calling your attention to our 5 Year Plan.

Please attend and bring your ideas and curiosity.
From the Director of Religious Exploration

Success in religious exploration is not measured by the amount learned, but by the small connective moments that help us all grow.

Setting time aside to really think about what we want, what we dream of, what we envision is a true luxury and an essential factor in making dreams become reality.

Every few years the Religious Exploration Program via myself and the Religious Exploration Committee takes the time to vision for RE. Two years ago we worked together to create this vision statement:

We seek to have our children, youth, and adults:

- Grow in faith
- Realize their individual worth and potential
- Integrate the Principles into their daily lives

Understand and enact Faith in Action

We invite you, all of you, to join us for a Visioning Luncheon, January 31, from noon to 2, in the Fellowship Hall, for an opportunity to say hello to each other, break bread together, and vision for the future of Religious Exploration.

What do we want in the realm of religious education for ourselves, our children, our youth, our adults? What values do we hold most dear that we want to hold up for exploration? What goals do we want to reach and how could a vision help us see toward those goals?

Bring your ideas, your ideals, and your dreams and join us for a visioning luncheon. (Please contact me about childcare needs, dre@augustauu.org.)

Yours in faith,

Karen

ADULT PROGRAMMING NOTES

Independent Film and Luncheon /Dinner Series

The Adult RE is sponsoring a monthly luncheon /dinner film series. Films will be held as a luncheon at the church or as a dinner at a church member’s home. The focus of the series will be to both entertain and increase viewer’s awareness of religious, social and political concerns that affect our community today. Some films will be documentaries while others will be movies with a religious, social or political theme. All films will encourage you to think about what you value. An opportunity to discuss the film, its messages and their implications will follow. If you enjoy the PBS series “Front Line”, “American Experience”, “Point Of View” (P.O.V.), “Independent Lens” or the independently produced films shown at the Railroad Cinema in Waterville and the Morning Star Cinema in Brunswick, you will enjoy this film series.

Our first film, “For The Bible Tell Me So” will be shown at the church on Sunday, Feb. 28 from 12:15-3PM. The movie profiles five Christian families and how they deal with having a Gay or Lesbian child. Two of the more prominent families interviewed are Dick Gephardt, a former Republican presidential nominee candidate and Gene Robinson, the current openly gay Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese in New Hampshire. Other films will include “Jesus Camp”, “Oranges Are Not The Only Fruit”, “Knee Deep”, and “Root Of All Evil”. Other films will be influenced by viewer preference and suggestions. If you have a film suggestion, are interested in helping with a church film or would like to host a film at your house please contact Tom Waddell at 512-5382 or email me at us1863@roadrunner.com.

Fundraising Suggestion - Your input is requested

Don Bell has proposed a fund raising program that has proved very successful at his brother-in-law’s church in Massachusetts. After three years they are realizing $5,000 profit annually.

The program involves selling shopping cards to church members at face value with the church receiving a commission on each sale from the vendor. This is done through the Great Lakes Scrip Center (GLSC), which is a national company that represents more than 600 retail brands.

For example a $25 card would return:
Olive Garden 9% $2.45
LL Bean 17% $4.25
Shell Gas 2.5% $0.63
Home Depot 5% $1.25
American Airlines 8% $2.00
Barnes & Noble 9% $2.25
Lowes 4% $1.00

Card sales from local businesses could also be arranged.

The cards could be sold in the Fellowship Hall during coffee hour and much of the other work would be done on line. The project would require initial “seed money” and a core of dedicated people to sell, order, and distribute the cards and to perform book-keeping duties.

As fundraising chairs, we would like to have your thoughts on this project. It will require substantial planning and on-going commitment. Is it a program that you would favor and support? Please email us or talk with us about this ~ Judy McCown and Bruce Bierce (jsmbierce@myfairpoint.net or Bbierce@myfairpoint.net

Our meditation is open to all.
We practice in the sanctuary 6:30 – 8 PM on Mondays and Wednesdays.
Come and join us any time. No prior experience necessary.

In February we will begin a practice including children from 5:30 – 6:15 on the first Monday of the month.
Childcare will continue to be available from 6:15 – 8:15 on that day.

On third Mondays we usually have an introduction to practice from 5:30 – 6:15; however, this will not happen in February.

On fourth Mondays we have a recitation of the 14 Mindfulness Trainings at 5:30. This will not happen on January 25 because there will be a recitation with the wider Order of Interbeing meditation community at our church on Saturday, January 30. All are welcome.

We will gather to share at the end of our January Intensive Practice on Saturday, February 6, 9 – 12 followed by a potluck vegetarian lunch.

In February we will have a Maine Sangha Trip to Blue Cliff Monastery in NY from February 12 – 15 open to anyone who is interested in learning more about this practice. We will be joining them for Tet, the Vietnamese Lunar New Year celebration.
HISTORY COMMITTEE

Thanks to Helping Hands and Backs on December 27, the History Room moved from the second floor of the Annex to the old office on the first floor! The help was greatly appreciated. Thank you so much!

Sunday, March 28 Between Services on your calendar for the “Opening” of the History Room! See what we have: Pictures – Books – Timelines – Artifacts -- and much more! The Annex itself is a rich part of our history, having served as a parsonage, housed a day care center and offices, and now used for RE, the History Room and meetings. If you have never been in the Annex, that is an added reason to mark the date. Refreshments will be served.

Communicate with the History Committee in the designated tray in the Committee Room (by coat room). We are looking for:
-- media articles about the church and its members,
-- your questions about the history of Unitarian Universalism in Augusta,
-- material about members who have died for the Memorial Book.

Let us know if you have things to donate to the history collection.

The Wayside Pulpit was introduced to North American churches—Unitarian and a total of 12 denominations—in 1919 by a Unitarian minister in Brighton, MA. These were “wayside sermons, liberal messages that would make people stop, read, and search their conscience.” The Unitarian Universalist Association website carries over 800 sayings that have appeared over the years, with the last series being published by UUA in 2006.” We have over 100 of the original posters in the History Room, and have downloaded the UUA collection so that it is available for you to pursue. They are now called “Quotations from the Wayside” and we plan to share a few in each in newsletter.
